Personal Data

Job Information

Training Information

Short biographical sketch with emphasis on the training requirements stated in our Metabolomics Workshop brochure.

Brief letter (no more than two paragraphs) explaining how this workshop is relevant to the applicant's work in any of the following roles:

- 1) A instructor who wants to teach metabolomics and cheminformatics tools in his/her classes.
- 2) A computational scientist who works in collaboration with researchers in medicine, chemistry and/or biology departments.
- 3) A scientist who works in the areas of: medicine (epidemiology, nutrition, clinical), pharmacology, chemistry (analytical chemistry, biochemistry) or biology including microbiology, and plant sciences and who is interested in the applications of metabolomics in his/her research.

*Please fill up all the fields in this application form and email it to Dr. Claudia Lerma at clerma@ufl.edu

Important: Dr. Claudia Lerma will notify by email the candidates who are awarded travel support. Travel expenses refunds for faculty member participants will be paid through the University of Florida. Hence the applications need to be processed with a great deal of anticipation.

Recipients will be contacted by the University of Florida IFAS Shared Service Centers to complete the administration paperwork at least two months before the event. Recipients will also be advised to keep all the receipts and they will receive up to $1000 reimbursement from UF for their travel expenses. For more information please contact Dr. Lerma.

The information included in the application form will allow our coordination panel to screen the applications to ensure that the three faculty members of Minority Serving Institutions selected, have the background needed to benefit most from the workshop.
